Gives Wise Advice.

The negro educator made one of his characteristic speeches, full of good advice to members of his race. He was heard by an audience of perhaps 3,000, standing in the hot sunshine as he spoke, for more than an hour The speaker was listened to attentively and was framed with the speaker was listened with the speaker spoke, for more than an hour The speaker was listened to attentively and was frequently interrupted by ap-plause. Many white people also heard the address, among those occupying seats near the speaker being the diseats near the speaker being the urrector-general, James M. Barr, and Secretary G. T. Shepperd, of the exposition. Washington has cultivated with no small degree of success President Roosevelt's peculiar style of oratory. Mr. Roosevelt's gestures and head pose

Mr. Roosevelt's gestures and head pose are readily observable in him.

This evening's program of Negro Day consisted of musical selections by stu-dents from Hampton Institute and the band of eighty pieces from St. Emma's School, Rock Castle, Va. Wise Talks by "The Office Boy"

I did. Yesterday I went over to the farmhouse where I was telling you I went to see them milking with machines, and the dairy master asked me if I liked honey, and he told me to go up to a certain hive and take all I wanted, and I did—that is, I went, but take it from me, the next time you need any honey you buy it in town and pay the regular price for it. That's what I will do. Sometimes I wish I were a farmer and could spend all my time tilling the soil. Farmers' boys nowadays wear just as good clothes as anybody, only they have been raised to think that good clothes go with Sunday and other good things. Well, a nice pair of flamel trousers is a good thing, as it really makes a new suit, for you can wear them with any coat. We are closing ours out with a fifteen per cent, discount this week. If you want any summer togs or camping duds, go to my boss, Don't wait for me. Butt in and buy what you need while prices are negligee. Yours, with
